

13. Television / Internet

UR's apartment buildings receive TV signals via the collective antenna systems installed on the roofs (in some apartment complexes, signals are received through cables). To watch TV, all you need to do is simply connect your television unit to the TV terminal in your house (You are required to sign up the broadcast reception fee agreement with NHK separately). For more information on connecting TV terminals, television sets, and other peripheral devices such as TV recorders, please refer to the respective manual for each device.

◆ Satellite Broadcasting Television ◆

In order to watch satellite broadcasting, you need a TV with an internal tuner or an external satellite tuner. To receive such broadcasts, you should subscribe to broadcasting (fee-based) with a broadcaster.

In certain apartment complexes it is possible to receive satellite broadcasting signals without a BS tuner or subscription to a CATV service. For more information, contact your CATV provider, Administration Service Office, or Residence Center or other management facilities.

In apartment complexes with no facilities to view communication satellite broadcasting, you need to install a CS antenna on the balcony of your house (In certain apartment complexes this is not necessary. For more information, please contact your CATV provider, Administration Service Office or Residence Center. Also, you might not be able to watch some programs on expanded channels which have been broadcasting since October 2011.). 110-degree communication satellite broadcasting can be viewed in certain apartment complexes. For details about the availability of this service, contact your Administration Service Office or Residence Center or other management facilities. For installation of a CS antenna, the prior approval of UR must be sought through the specific arrangements. (see page 29) Please note that depending on the direction of the building and the condition of the neighboring buildings, these television services might not be available.

It may not be possible to watch new 4K8K satellite broadcasting that started in December, 2018. Please check with your Residence Center.

◆ Internet ◆

UR is promoting the development of Internet infrastructure in its apartment complexes to provide Internet services through in-building LAN, optical wiring, VDSL, and CATV systems.

Regardless of the internet service system you select, you are requested to contact the corresponding service provider directly to discuss the terms and conditions of its use and apply for a subscription.

For more information, see the UR website or contact your Residence Center or other management facilities.